SAID IN CYPRESS

By Newsy

This column has stressed more or less serious subjects since the present editor took over for a second time. This week we give it to you "Chit chat" style—a la a graduated teen-ager, as it were.

What well known Cypressan is celebrating a first wedding anniversary this month after ending his bachelorhood last year? He is prominent in Kiwanis and was considered as a candidate for chamber president, which he refused. The couple held open house on February 24 last year to receive the congratulations of their friends from Los Angeles, San Francisco and this area?

What Cypress couple sufered an unexpected difficulty on a recent trip by car to Michigan to spend the Christmas holiday? They were accompanied by their little dog. When let out of the car to "air" in its first encounter with snow, the pooch became so excited it took off for parts unknown and had to be left behind. An appeal was made to the editor of the newspaper several weeks later to help find the pet. Not only did he succeed, but the kind lady who adopted the straying canine from the California dog population promptly boxed the explorer and shipped it back to its rightful owner.

What popular purveyor of super service station sundries took the opportunity recently to shut himself in the women's rest room to read the morning paper. He encountered difficulty in the makeshift library, however, when attempting to get out. The lock on the door had gone "blewie" and the doorknob simply turned round and round in his hand. With rising temper and a knowledge of the futility of his own atempts to rescue himself—he finally kicked the door down?

What, little girl, whose elaborate birthday parties are always reported in these columns year after year following her natal day in January, celebrated simply this year with a family dinner party at a nearby Long Beach restaurant, and chose her sterling silver pattern instead? Her younger brother will be eight this month, and she can sing a solo right now almost as well as her mother.

What is the favorite name of a well-known Cypress mother to twin daughters who are now three years old?

What young matron who has now moved to Florida has a birthday February tenth? Her party last year honoring the event was reported under the title "How NOT to report a birthday party, by Dale," and she did not take offense?

What new little baby girl would have caused a sensation across the nation if she could just have held off being born until the special day this month which bears her name? Her father and mother and little brother welcome her just as heartily as though she were a sensation, however.

RED CROSS, CHEST AID VICTIMS

Organizations to which residents are asked to contribute once a year, are reporting help which they were able to give flood victims in this area. In two instances, the community chest provided new shoes for four elderly people when it was learned that theirs were ruined by water which flooded their homes. One man lost a supply of chicken feed, which pursuit was the sole means of income for him and his wife. The Red Cross replaced this with a like amount so that he had an even start in that respect.

The Rev. W. D. Howard, who has represented Cypress on the Community chest which is part of the Anaheim organization, has been a champion for this area in attempting to get help to people here when needed. He reports that the largest contributors last year were members of the local teacher's club. About $250 was paid in from this area. Since last September approximately $100 has been returned in cash value, he said. In addition, the services of the Visiting Nurse association of Orange county, the Children's hospital fund, not to mention the Girl and Boy Scouts and Catholic Welfare and Salvation Army have operated here regularly from the support given them through the Community chest, he stated.

In addition to Mr. Howard, Mrs. Donald R. Canfield will also serve as a representative on the Anaheim board this year, according to announcement of her recent appointment.

Boy Scouts Explained By Leo Irwin

Leo Irwin, member of the Anaheim Kiwanis club's scouting committee, spoke to Cypress Kiwanians Monday night and explained his club's activities in connection with its sponsoring the scout movement in that city.

He was invited because the Cypress group is considering sponsoring the scouts here, and wanted to hear details on how the job is done. Irwin told of scouting trips his boys have taken, what financial aid is given by the Anaheim Kiwanians, and introduced their scoutmaster, Tom Atkinson.

Atkinson described the qualifications a scoutmaster should have and what should be expected of the sponsoring club.

Guests at the meeting were Warren TerBeest, M. R. Bouse, John Renema and Jack Weller. Ed Demack was a visiting Kiwanian from Long Beach, who resides in Cypress.

Haskell Kelley was program chairman. Miss Alene Rogers accompanied the group singing, with the Rev. Wm. Howard leading the songs.

K. E. JOHNSON'S PARENTS VISIT

Parents of K. E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson, and uncle, Thorwald Hansen arrived Sunday to visit at 5701 Saint Ann ave. All of the guests are from Olivet, South Dakota.

Hansen will go on home, going first to Oregon, but the Johnson's plan an extended visit.

MANY WITNESS REBEKAH, ODD FELLOW INSTALLATION

Before a packed audience, newly elected officers of the Rebekah and I.O.O.F lodges were installed Tuesday night in colorful ceremonies which took place in the utility room of the Cypress elementary school. Guests were from the nine lodges in the district, the Artesia Rebekah lodge, and a host of friends.

New Officers

Others seated were recording secretary, Irma Stodart; financial secretary, Anna McCoid; treasurer, Dorothy Lukens; trustee for 18 months, Bessie McCoy; warden, Helen Wilson; conductor, Mickie Thomas; chaplain, Dolly Teutschman; musician, Adeline Patterson; color bearer, Leona Caul; inside guardian, Bessie McCoy; outside guardian, Agnes Konig; right supporter to the noble grand, Dorothy Beason; left supporter, Doris Coakley; right supporter to the vice grand, Evie Junker; left supporter, Christine Cardin; altar bearers, Della Priddy and Viola Fanning; banner bearers to the past noble grand, Violet Martin and Beatrice Hahn; banner bearers to the chaplain, Ruth Pugh and Olive Williams.

Leo Kinsman, Deputy district grand master, installed the Odd Fellows, assisted by a corps of eight officers and marshal. Karl Beason will lead the group, with Gerald Milbourn, vice grand; John Thomas, secretary; Burt Kroesen, treasurer. Elmer Corby is past noble grand.

Give 25-Year Pin

Mrs. Ethel Cleveland, retiring noble grand, was presented with a 25-year pin. Gifts were also given to the new noble grands and the installing and escort teams.

Honored guests were Jennie Mae Annin, president of the state lodge; Henry Mang, past grand patriarch of the grand encampment and James Weber, district deputy grand patriarch of the grand encampment, who were introduced and spoke briefly.

Mrs. Maxine Williams was chairman of a committee which served cake and coffee at the social hour which followed the close of the ceremonies.

PLAN TO FINANCE CYPRESS PARK ON 15-YEAR BASIS

Carrying approval of the county supervisors, the 15-year park development program emerged this week as a $250,000 project, to be financed by the Cypress park district.

Planned facilities for the park under the master plan recommended by the county planning commission and approved by the supervisors are a regulation hard baseball diamond, with grandstand; horseshoe grounds, courts for shuffleboard, croquet, volleyball, tennis, badminton and handball; a play area and wading pool for small children; a picnic area and recreation building.

Parking space would be provided along Crescent ave. and Watson st. the front of the park site.

TWO FLATS AT TIMES

One flat tire is bad enough, points out the National Automobile Club. Two are almost more than the most patient motorist can stand. Yet two flats at one time are not uncommon. In addition to the one on the wheel, many motorists find that the spare also is flat as a result of not having been checked up when the other tires were being inflated. The spare should be inflated every time the other tires get attention.

BURGLARS PLAGUE MERCHANTS

A series of burglaries have Cypress merchants and sheriff's deputies on the alert. Investigators from the sheriff's office Monday morning said firearms had been taken from the Stewart Bros. furniture store. The owners told a reporter their cash register was broken into, and it in itself was a loss keenly felt by them.

Western Auto supply was the intended victim early Tuesday morning, about 3:15 a.m. Earl Essex, hearing the alarm go off, went to investigate and apparently frightened the trespassers away. Constable Haskell Kelley, officials of the alarm company and Jack R. Weller, manager, were notified. Damage was slight, as entry was not gained.

The next night the burglars declared a field day. The Cypress Hay Market was entered and the office ransacked from top to bottom, but nothing was reported missing. Books, papers and canceled checks were strewn about, inside and out.

Also entered was the office of the Cypress Public scales. J. W. Schmitt, owner, found some of the hay company's cancelled checks and other evidences of confusion.

C Of C Drive For Members Is Underway

More than 60 Cypress business houses will be contacted within the next two weeks by members of the Chamber of commerce membership commitee as the 1952 membership campaign gets underway.

Volunteers who will contact prospective members are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Essex, Mr. and Mrs. Don Caul, Jim Schmitt, Frank Noe and Dale Kroesen.

This is the first step in the drive. Next move will be to get every resident to join with a house-to-house campaign.

Each two dollars membership will help attain the goal set by the chamber to finance the survey needed to get sewers for Cypress.

Several people have already come to the civic group with their memberships, and more have signified intentions of joining.

The membership committee urges all who wish to join to contact one of them, or Mrs. H. J. G. Kreissler at Evie's beauty shop.

Hit By Car, Man Dies

John J. O'neill, 29, died after being struck by a car as he crossed Carson st. near Norwalk blvd. in Hawaiian Gardens early Saturday evening. A worker at Douglas aircraft, Long Beach, he lived at 9820 Cedar ave., Bellflower.

John P. Osborn, 31, of 5612 Vonnie Lane, was coming home from work at Douglas when the accident occurred. The street is particularly dark in that area. Osborn reported to police that his driving lights were up as he swung out to pass another car on the three-lane road when his car struck O'Neill.

GOOD HUNTING, GIRLS!

To many a spinster (and to many a wary bachelor, too) the most significant thing about this new year of 1952 is that its February contains 29 days.

Here's a happy thought for Leap Year huntresses, from statistics just released by the Census Bureau: Even though the U. S. now has more women than men, there are more single men than single women in the most marrying ages, from 20 to 35. Not only is there a man for every girl in that age bracket, but there are 2 million men left over.

There's no reason for any sweet young thing to stay single, with statistics like those, and a Leap Year license to take the initiative! —Calif. Feature Service

DISCOURAGING FIGURES

LIBERTY'S TEAM"

With the slogan "Forward on Liberty's Team" the American Boy Scouts will observe their 42nd anniversary during the week of February 6 to 12.

Since 1910, more than 19 million American boys and adults have been associated with the Boy Scout organization. They are better citizens because of this association and our country is a better country because of them.

It is well for us to recognize the value of this great youth movement, but it is more important that we do something practical to forward its purposes. There is a need for adult Boy Scout leaders on the local level. Men who are interested in building sound citizens for tomorrow (and every man should be interested) should volunteer their services.

May the Boy Scouts of America continue to grow and thrive in the continuance of their fine traditions and achievements.

I RISE TO REMARK

By JOHN PHILLIPS

Winston Churchill spoke to the Congress on January 17th. When the roll is called of the great men of this era of the world's history, his name, like that of Abou Ben Adhem will lead the rest. Perhaps his outstanding characteristic is his unabashed and unreserved support of his own country. If it is not good for Great Britain, he is not for it; if it is good for Great Britain, he is for it, whatever the matter may be.

We could stand a few people like that, in our present government, particularly in the State Department. Our objective seems to be to prefer other causes and other nations to our own, and to shovel the taxpayers money into an endless variety of projects of doubtful value. What some people do not always understand about the present situation is that an objective, on paper, may be excellent, but that the stated objective is not always followed, in the execution, and that its administration may be so extravagant as to weaken the effectiveness of what we are trying to do. Mr. Churchill is never led astray by such fallacies.

He shows the passing years, but not as much as might be expected. He makes me think of Moses, on Mt. Nebo. It was written, "And Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated."

Neither is his sense of humor abated. At one point in his address he said, "I have not come to ask you for money . . ." There was immediate laughter and applause. Then he completed the sentence, ". . . to ask you for money to make living more comfortable or easier for us in Britain."

The speech is worth reading. It was an appeal, not for financial help, but for a shoulder to shoulder approach to the problems of the moment. He concluded with the two sentences which have been quoted in practically all newspaper, radio and television reviews of teh speech, "Bismark once said the supreme fact of the nineteenth century was that Britain and the United States spoke the same language. Let us make sure that the supreme fact of the twentieth century is that they tread the same path."

We have started work in the Committee on Appropriations. My sub-committee has already had more than a week of hearings, taking up the requests of a dozen agencies, out of the three dozen which come to us. These are, of course, the smaller agencies. Even then we meet examples of unnecessary expenditures and the human desire to grow year by year and to ask for more money. We did uncover this year the system of paying one agency to do work for another, which in fact gives the second agency more money that it accounts for, to us. The job requires constant watchfulness. It is interesting to observe that in about ten days, and taking only smaller agencies of the group, this one sub-committee, on Independent Offices, has listened to requests for more money than it takes to run the government of the great state of California for a year.

I was holding back this weekly letter, to the last possible post, because the chairman of our full committee called a meeting, unexpectedly for the 18th, without giving any reason for it. We found out that he intended to make another attempt to propose a "package budget." This has theoretical arguments in favor of it, which fall down in practice, as I tried to point out in an article I wrote for the National Tax Journal. It has been widely reprinted and circulated. I have received very favorable comments. What I tried to do was suggest the measures which would produce economy, rather than this package budget idea, which must necessarily fail, under our conditions here. If anyone is interested in budget procedures, I'd be glad to mail you a reprint. Just ask for "The Hadacol of the Budget Makers."

When John Q. Needs A Friend!

COUNTY COMMENT

By GEORGE E. HART

Lots of water lately, which brings up the question of the best way to use it. That is, if you do use it.

As for using it on the ground, there's a difference of viewpoint about that, which is nothing new. But there's a new difference lately. The new difference deals with irrigation, small fruit sizes, salty soil and such.

For a number of years, farming experts have been telling the ranchers that they were over-irrigating their orchards, and that by using less water they not only would be conserving an increasingly scarce supply, but also would have better trees, better crops and better fruit.

This has become pretty much accepted doctrine and there appears to be no reason to quarrel with it, so far it deals with water of ordinary purity.

However, a new complication has been brought forward by Loren Blakeley, the engineer whose specialty is water pollution. He is county consultant on that subject and his opinion therefore may be regarded as expert, too.

He says that our water supply has so much chemical salts in it that under ordinary irrigation practices tree root systems are affected. It is his opinion that the persistently small fruit sizes of recent years can be traced to that condition.

The remedy, he says, is heavier irrigation. The practice of soaking the ground down as far as the root system extends lets the salts accumulate around the root system. They must be washed down below the roots to permit the tree to remain healthy and grow the kind of fruit it should and would normally produce, he contends.

With Colorado river water flowing down the Santa Ana river, mingled with native water, each acre foot of water contains .8 of a ton of salt, Blakeley notes. The native water content is about .7 of a ton per acre foot. Colorado river water carries an even ton per acre foot, he discloses.

"We would never dream of piling all that salt on top of the ground in our orchards", said Blakeley, "yet we wash it down among the tree roots and let it remain there accumulating with each irrigation. What we should do is wash it on down below the roots. That will prevent acumulation of salts to the point where the tree is affected."

Blakeley said that from two to three acre feet of water should be used in every irrigation, to leach the salts below the root system.

He is a convert from the doctrine of using water less rather than more. He has been following the heavy irrigation plan for three years in his own orchard and says he is beginning to see results.

According to Blakeley, Ross Shafer, the well known Tustin grower, himself an engineer and water authority, has been practicing heavy irrigation for years and has big fruit to show for it.

It will be interesting to note how growers react to the Blakeley theory. They will look at the heavy irrigation proposal and then look at the slim water supply, and shudder at dipping more deeply into it, instead of nursing it. But they also shudder when they look at the small fruit on their trees.

Water leaders are agitating right now against the heavy pre-plant-

Howard Twins Reach 3 Years

Twin daughters of the Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Howard celebrated their third birthdays on their natal day, January 25. Their mother invited other little guests to help Sue Ann and Gail Ann properly note the occasion.

The afternoon was spent in a manner suitable to tots of such a tender age, with a toy train the girls received for Christmas which is brought out only on state occasions being the center of attraction.

Using a color scheme of pink and white, Mrs. Howard served a birthday cake with three candles, and individual cup cakes with a candle each with ice cream.

Bidden were Mrs. C. E. Swain with twin daughters Judy and Julie, Mrs. Leon Ferguson with Ronald, Miss Gayle McCoy with Larry, Mrs. J. C. Napier with Phyllis Elaine, Mrs. Edward Riddle with Rita, Mrs. Rolla Rhodes with Donna, and Robbie Stodart.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller and family, 5262 Lincoln ave., were weekend visitors with his parents at Banning.

FAITH TABERNACLE WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Faith Tabernacle church will celebrate its third anniversary Sunday with a special Sunday school rally and special devotional service during the morning worship hour, led by the Rev. Clarence G. Eigenhuis, pastor.

At noon, members and friends will participate in a "pot luck" dinner at the Baptist church annex. In the afternoon the Rev. W. R. Robertson, secretary-treasurer for southern California district of the "Christ's ambassadors" will bring a special message, with music and singing. A baptismal service will follow.

In the evening at 6:30 o'clock all young people are invited to attend the young people's service and at 7:30 o'clock the last meeting of the revival campaign will be held. The "Musical Montes" will be present at this service.

NOTE BIRTHDAY AT SEWING MEET

Mrs. Don Wedeking, 5632 Vonnie Lane, entertained a small group of women in her neighborhood who meet regularly for a sewing circle. Since it was the birthday of one of the guests, Mrs. William T. Rogers, she was feted with a gift and birthday cards.

At luncheon time, Mrs. Wedeking served salad, rolls, fruit jello and a decorated cake.

Present were Mmes Carl Markel, Henry Sande, Robert O'Leary, K. E. Johnson, Les Hendershot, and John Neely in addition to Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Wedeking.

MARINER FAILS TO CIRCLE GLOBE

Loyd Harder is back at his old stand at Loyd's Drive-in. Having shipped out twice in the merchant marine for a combined time of about ten months, his only regret is that he has yet to "sail around the world." On both trips the orders failed to bring his ship back to the coast from which he started.

This last time he sailed from California for the Hawaiian islands, going through the Panama canal to Aruba to the Netherland Antilles. From there to Germany, through the Suez canal to an island in the Persian gulf and on to Yokahama the journey proceeded. But instead of coming home to California, the trip was routed back to Aruba and home to Norfolk, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Strempel, 7512 Lincoln ave., extended the hospitality of their home Saturday night to members of their 500 club. Miss Elizabeth Dickerson had high score.

VFW TO CALL SPECIAL MEET

The last regular meeting in February of Cypress VFW Post No. 9847 on the twenty-eighth will be set aside for a special purpose, it was disclosed this week. All members will be invited to attend. Under discussion will be plans for a new meeting hall to be built on a lot, the site of which will be announced publicly when negotiations are fully completed.

Members will be urged to consider what to build, how to build, and the building requirements which will have to be met.

It is hoped to incorporate ideas which are volunteered into a workable plan.

Rev. Clarence G. Eigenhuis will attend the regional council meeting of the Southern California Assembly of God church, Tuesday through Friday of next week.

Jess F. Rodriguez, 8701 Belmond, who suffered a broken ankle a few weeks ago, is now getting about very nicely. It will probably be another month before the cast can be removed.

NAVY CHIEF HOME FROM JAPAN DUTY

Chief L. F. "Larry" Fanning arrived in San Francisco two weeks ago from duty in Japan. His wife, the former Viola Phillips, went by plane to greet him, and the couple remained in the northern city for a week. He left the states within a week following their marriage a year ago last July.

ENTERTAINS WIVES OF PASTORS HERE

Mrs. W. D. Howard was hostess Tuesday noon at the parsonage when she served luncheon to six other wives of Nazarene ministers in surrounding towns.

Following the meal the women called Redondo Beach to investigate a possible site for the annual pastor's wives retreat.

Mrs. Howard is secretary of the group, and Mrs. R. J. Plumb, wife of the district superintendent is chairman, from Santa Ana. Others came from San Bernardino, Hawthorne and Maywood.

Security-First National Buys Southern County Bank

The purchase of the Southern County Bank by Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles is not expected to result in any personnel change in the Buena Park office, according to officials of the buying concern. It is planned to retain the Southern County staff.

Directors of The Southern County Bank voted to submit for approval at a special stockholders meeting on Saturday, February 9, a proposal for the purchase of the bank by the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, George M. Wallace, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Security-First National Bank, announced last night.

If the proposal is approved by the stockholders on February 9, the four offices of The Southern County Bank, in Artesia, El Monte, Buena Park and Anaheim, will be operated after February 21 as branches of the Security-First National Bank.

The Southern County Bank was founded in Anaheim in 1912 by J. W. Phelps. The El Monte Branch was opened in 1913, the Buena Park Branch in 1920, and the Artesia Branch in 1934. Mr. Phelps died in 1947. His son, Wilson W. Phelps is now secretary of the bank and the Phelps family, principal stockholders in the institution.

Deposits in The Southern County Bank on December 31, 1951, totaled $14,000,000. Capital was $200,000, surplus $200,000 and undivided profits, $385,000.

At the Buena Park Branch, officers are Bert M. Wells, assistant cashier and R. S. Click Jr., assistant manager.

Phone Operators Show A Success

The "Telephone Operator's Review" given by the Anaheim Telephone Unit, directed by Mrs. Ralph Brown of 7772 Melrose Avenue, on January 25 in the Santa Ana American Legion Hall, was an outstanding success.

The proceeds will be used to finance entertainment for the patients in the Veterans' hospital in Long Beach.

Lasting for two hours, the show was very well received by the audience of more than 300 persons. Guest artists included Miss Marie Laumont, well known dance artist and instructor, her pupil Marti Germonto, ballet dancer; little Mary Ellen Henson, vocalist, and Miss Joanna Henson, pianist, who accompanied several numbers. All were from Buena Park.

The El Toro Marine Band presented a musical prelude, several numbers on the program and accompanied the finale, a Can-Can dance given by Shirley Rinear, Marilyn Kraft, Aurora Zuniga, Pearl Harbin, Helen Falates, Helen De Sutter, Virginia Bassett and Mary Acosta.

The telephone operators served cookies and coffee at the close of the program.

The entertainment which they have been furnishing the patients in the hospital has been greatly appreciated.

Hart Reviews Flood Control In Year Past

By George E. Hart

The Orange county flood control district got back into the flood control business during 1951, as Flood Engineer J. A. Bradley expressed it, after venturing into water affairs foreign to the district's legal purpose, but immensely important to the county's water supply.

The flood control districts' job is to handle over supply of water. But during 1951 it was called on to do something about the under supply.

Special legislation was enacted, permitting levy of a 10-cent tax for water purchases only, and the district bought 25,000 acre feet of Colorado river water to be sunk underground. The cost was $250,000, requiring a six-cent tax. This water is now being delivered. It followed a similar purchase by the Orange County Water district, which has been buying Colorado river water for three years.

Tri-County Pact

Equally important was the signing this year of a tri-county agreement which prevents water interests of Riverside and San Bernadino Counties from interfering with Orange county's water salvage program in Prado basin, unless the program interferes with their water levels.

The flood control district added another section of infiltration pipe extending into Prado basin above Prado dam, to receive water to be drained from the basin and carried below the dam to the county's spreading grounds, down river. The pipe now goes 1700 feet above the dam, to a point just above Corona-Rincon road. This year's addition cost $75,000, making a total investment by the county in the program nearly $480,000 to date.

Actual fruits of the project cannot be reaped, however, until a method for rescuing the water now wasted through evaporation and transpiration is determined, rights of way obtained from the federal government and other property owners in the basin, and scarce materials for further field studies are available.

Salt Water Study

Continued studies were made throughout the year in cooperation with the U.S. geological survey, covering salt water intrusion on the coast, and water conditions in Orange county area and Prado area.

Special attention was paid to water gauging along Santa Ana river during delivery of water purchased from the Colorado river, this being classified by Engineer Bradley as a major hydrogaphic job. Prado studies dealt with the effect of "dewatering" on ground water levels and movement in connection with construction of the second infiltration pipe unit.

But the department also built flood control works. Unit No. 1 of the East Tustin storm drain was built for $220,000. Unit No. 2 has been designed, plans and specifications approved, and application made for allocation of steel. The cost is estimated at $85,000.

Long Awaited Job

Plans and specifications for Laguna canyon storm drain, an $80,000 project have been prepared and approved by the county and city of Laguna Beach, which will furnish right of way. The state highway department granted an encorachment permit for works along the canyon highway. But nothing has been heard from a steel application filed last September with NPA.

During 1951 the flood control department completed C a r b o n pilot channel between Placentia and Dowling avenues, Placentia area, and rebuilt another section of the crumbling Placentia avenue storm drain, a WPA project that didn't stand up. The cost of the new section was $9000.

Also built during the year—the job was completed January 8—was the first of three units of the West Orange storm water channel, to give needed protection to new subdivisions in that section. Unit 3, the first built, is most northerly of the series, extending along Fletcher avenue. It cost $30,000. Shortage of steel probably will delay the other two units until 1953.

Bridal Path

Construction of a bridal trail along the bed of the Santa Ana river between Hamilton ave., Costa Mesa, and Harbor boulevard bridge, nearly five miles, was another project of the department not related to flood control. It was regarded as the foot in the door for riding clubs, who envisage a system of trails along the river and into the hills.

During 1951 the flood department spent $52,000 in special maintenance work and $57,000 in routine maintenance. It improved its tools for the job by adding a new $18,000 dragline and many smaller pieces of equipment, and is much better outfitted now than ever before, Bradley states.

ing irrigation of bean lands in the sections southwest of Santa Ana, near the coastal areas where salt water is crowding in from the ocean. But that, of course, is a different matter. No tree root systems are involved there.

In view of the state of the local water supply, the Blakeley theory of heavy irrigation may not gain much headway until Colorado river water is generally in use in the Santa Ana basin, several years hence.

Right now, nobody is thinking about irrigation anyway.

Noted Republican To Speak In Orange County

Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa will speak at the Balboa Bay Club on Wednesday, February 13 at 12:00 noon. His appearance there will be sponsored by the Orange County Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, who are holding a luncheon at which he will talk.

A capacity crowd is expected and reservations will be necessary.

Reservation chairman is Mrs. Robert S. Barnes, 2532 Circle Drive, Newport Beach, Phone Beacon 6386 R.

Hickenlooper, now serving his second term in the United States Senate, will report on his recent tour of Europe. He serves on the joint Committee on Atomic Energy and has long been interested in military affairs. On his last visit to California, in 1949, he drew capacity crowds.

FIRE CHIEFS WARN OF FLAMMABLE SWEATERS

Fire Chiefs locally issued a warning this week to be on the lookout for the much-publicized flammable sweaters which are being peddled by door to door salesmen.

The sweaters do not meet the specifications of the fire code and several men have been painfully burned when the lighting of a cigarette resulted in a "flash fire" of the fuzzy surface. Trade names of the sweaters are "Embassy", "Esquire", "Clydesdale", "C a m e l", "Kenmore", "Cameo", "Berkshire" and "Flosmore".

Persons being offered the sweaters are asked to report immediately to the Sheriff's office since they are sold illegally, Nelson reported.

Mrs. Irish Suffers Bad Fall

Mrs. Frances Irish, 5271 Bishop street, was discovered by a neighbor child a week ago Thursday morning, after she had fallen in the bath room the night before. She lay there all night, unable to rise, although a hurt elbow was apparently the only injury she received.

Relatives were unable to get admission to Cottage hospital in Fullerton because of crowded conditions there. Mrs. Minnie Adkins helped to care for her in her home, with others staying to relieve her. On Monday she was admitted to the hospital.

Mrs. Irish has a brother, John W. Neal, at 8701 Moody st. Her niece, Mrs. J. Reynolds lives in Fullerton, and a nephew, Kenneth Cantry, is a Los Angeles attorney who recently accompaneid Mayor Fletcher Bowron on his visit to the Orient.

VOLUNTEERS HELP HOUSEHOLDERS RESTORE HEAT

Residents in a large section of Cypress continue to be plagued with floor furnaces which do not function. Even after rains ceased, many tenants continue to report water seepage under the house, which eventually put the furnace out of commission. Only heat in these regulation two-bedroom homes has been by the oven in the kitchen range.

Householders gratefully report the cooperation and help of friendly neighbors who came in to lift a helping hand. Particular thanks are reported as being directed toward R. H. "Blackie" Hollis With a gasoline pump and an electric powered pump he has spent many hours volunteering his equipment and services. This necessitated crawling under houses in many instances through the muck and mire. Other neighbors were also helpful.

Building Permits

Buena Park building permits for the past week aggregated $40,854 in valuation, as shown by records of County Building Inspector Charles Donohue's office, which reported a total valuation of $422,035 for the county's unincorporated territory.

Buena Park's total ranked fourth among unincorporated communities of the county. Stanton, with $22,751, was eighth. There were no permits issued during the week for the Cypress area.

Buena Park permits were as follows:

Roy Spires, Jr., convert garage to bedroom, 6911 Indiana, $1296; Charles Y. Corley, residence, 8332 Fourth St., $10,208; Charles Y. Corley, residence, 8322 Fourth St., $10,096; The Glidden Co., fuel oil storage tank, 6082 Hansen road, $2000; M. L. Robinson, residence addition, 7942 E. Eighth St., $4500; J. E. Backman, residence and storage, 7912 Orangethorpe ave., $12,000; miscellaneous $2050.

Mrs. Evie Junker and daughter, Virginia Holt, will form a team to dance tonight in recital at Excelsior high school. Judy Hambly, a student in the same studio, is also on the program.

Citizens' Committee Meets

When the Citizens' Advisory committee met in Anaheim Thursday evening, poll of the various school districts present showed Cypress unanimously in favor of junior high schools. The majority of the schools polled were in favor. Sayanna reported there had been no opportunity to meet with the P.T.A., and Anaheim elementary was not represented.

There was a motion to work on two plans—one for cost of junior high schools to the district and an alternate plan to see what it would cost each district to build more schools of their own in addition to the existing plants and make a comparative cost estimate from this in the eight schools. Most of the elementary districts have used up their bonding capacity, it was pointed out.

In a statement Paul H. Demaree, superintendent, made later in a press release, he recommends floating a $2,000,000 bond issue and if the bond wins approval of the voters each taxpayer in the district would receive an additional charge of only 32 cents to the $1 now being paid yearly per $100 assessed valuation.

These figures were not reported at the Citizens' Advisory committee, which is scheduled to meet again March sixth, it was reported.

Small Fires From Flooded Furnaces

Volunteer firemen in Cypress have been called out twice recently to extinguish blazes which were attributed to faulty furnaces.

Mrs. Kenneth Clayton, 5561 Danny ave., reported $10 damage when gas on top of a flooded furnace box was said to have been ignited by the pilot.

A flood-clogged floor furnace exploded at the Fanning residence, 9082 Watson st., early Friday morning. Volunteer firemen said that a gas pocket had apparently formed and was set off by the pilot light after being flooded during the preceding rainstorm. Damage was estimated at $75.

DEFENSE IS YOUR JOB, TOO!

February's Fascinating Features

Camel races on the desert. A glider derby over the ocean. Ski championships in the mountain snows. These highlight events in the Southland during February, the All-Year Club reported today.

And there are few entire countries in the world which can match this for contrasting variety of locale, it was pointed out.

Camels will race daily during the Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival Feb. 19-24 in an Arabian setting at Indio, heart of the "Arabia of America" date-growing country. There will be an "Arabian Nights Pageant" with cast of 100.

As many as 10 gliders at a time will be seen soaring over the ocean off Torrey Pines bluff at San Diego in the 6th annual pacific Coast Midwinter Soaring Championships drawing ace glider pilots, Feb. 23 and 24.

Mile-high snows of Big Bear Lake in the San Bernardino Mountains will be the site of the Southern District Combined Championships, cross-country, jump, and giant slalom. February 2 and 3.

At a time when most of the nation's farms are white with snow, the California Midwinter Farm Fair is held at Imperial February 23 to March 8. A costumed fete will be given by the eight national groups which helped develop Imperial Valley—Americans, Hindus, Pakistanians, Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos, Swiss, Mexicans.

At Holtville, "Carrot Capital of America," surrounded by fields of winter-harvested carrots, the Imperial Valley Carrot Carnival will be held February 9 to 11 with Bugs Bunny leading the parade.

A unique Festival of Hot Waters will be held at Desert Hot Springs February 23, with a tour of hot flowing wells including the "Lucky 7," hottest well in the U.S.A.

Western movie stars as well as rodeo aces will compete in the Palm Springs Rodeo February 9 and 10.

An expected 150 of the state's finest figure skaters will compete in the California State Ice Skating Championships at San Diego February 15 and 16.

The site of the famous Lakeview Gusher, one of the country's most spectacular, which spewed millions of barrels of oil over the landscape of Kern County between Maricopa and Taft in 1910, will be marked with a California State Historical Landmark Plaque at ceremonies February 3. Old-timers who saw it come in, will be present.

Best of men's and women's and mixed choruses from the entire state will gather at Venice high school for the 2nd annual California Choral Contest February 10 and 22.
